A little challenge

How to play Happy Birthday on the recorder

Happy Birthday recorder notes with letters, for beginners, with a fingering chart for each note.

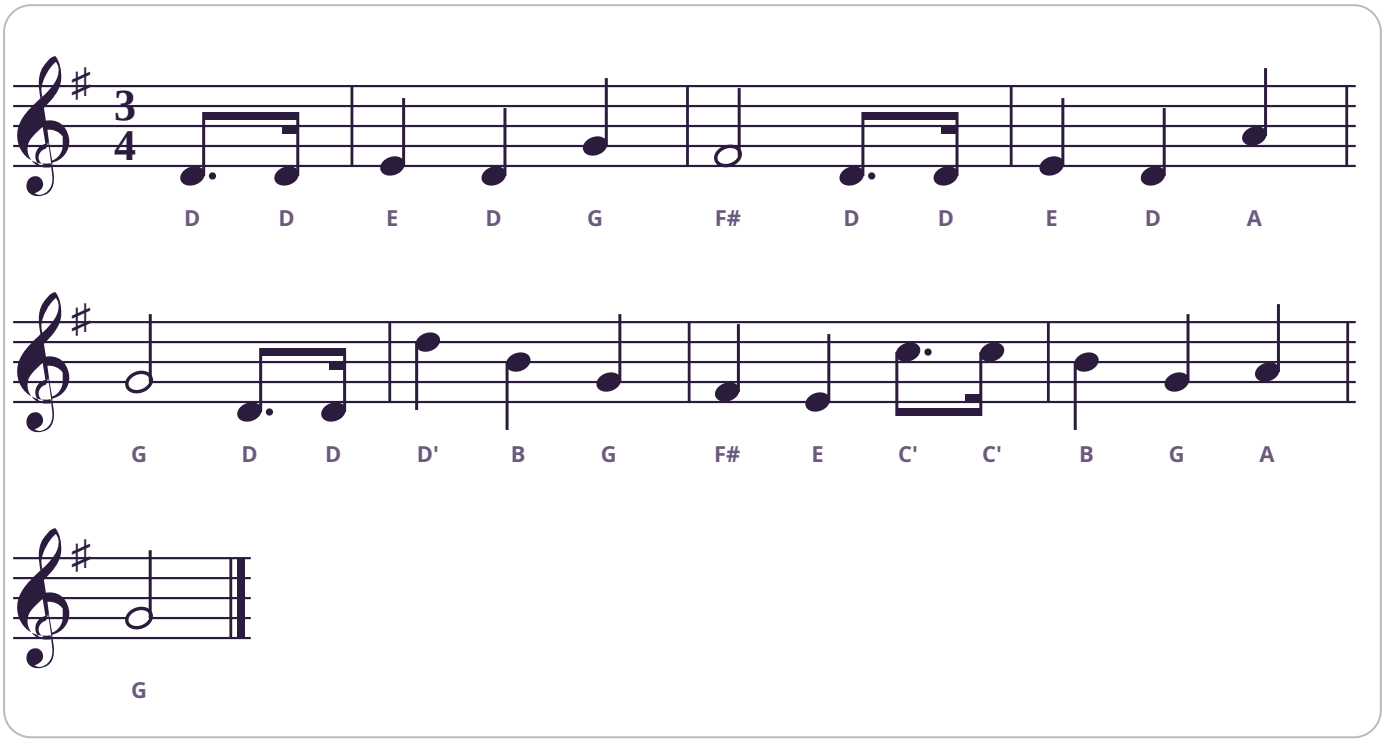

The song for every birthday, in the public domain since 2016. With F#, low D and high D, it uses almost every note there is. It uses 8 notes: low D, low E, F#, G, A, B, high C and high D. Below are the notes with their rhythm, and the fingering for each one.

The notes

Longer blocks are longer notes; a line marks each bar.

Sheet music

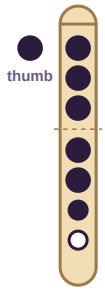

The same song in standard notation, with each note's name under it.

The notes as letters

D D E D G F# D D E D A G D D D' B G F# E C' C' B G A G

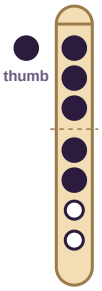

C' and D' are the high C and high D. All for a soprano (descant) recorder, with baroque (English) fingering.

Fingerings

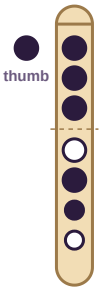

low D

Thumb hole covered, holes 1 2 3 4 5 6 covered

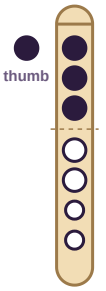

low E

Thumb hole covered, holes 1 2 3 4 5 covered

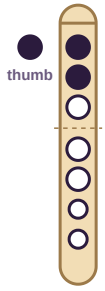

F#

Thumb hole covered, holes 1 2 3 5 6 covered

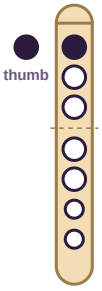

G

Thumb hole covered, holes 1 2 3 covered

Tap Play to hear a note; tap a fingering card to see how to play it. Filled holes are covered. The left hand is on top (thumb behind, holes 1–3), the right hand below (holes 4–7).

Tips

- Say "doo" into the recorder for each note: the tongue starts every note, so repeated notes sound separate.
- Blow gently, like cooling soup. Too much air makes a squeak an octave up.
- Cover the holes with the soft pads of your fingers, not the tips, so no air leaks out.

- Low D needs the gentlest breath of all, and every hole sealed: if it squeaks, check your bottom fingers first.
- F# is a "forked" fingering: cover the thumb and holes 1, 2, 3, 5 and 6, leaving hole 4 open.
- High D has the thumb hole open and only hole 2 covered: just your left middle finger holds it.
- For high C, lift your first finger (hole 1) and keep the thumb and hole 2 covered.
